

assuming engine idle != car stopped. because while the car is parked and on,
I can still press the gas pedal and make the engine run while the car is still stop/immobile assuming while having unforeseen event in cruise mode, the car does not immediately stop/hit the breaks that might cause an accident, but gradually stops